

FAQ

Where do spirit descriptions come from & can they look different to the Keeper than they do to the practitioners?

The descriptions provided of a spirit come from the visual manifestation of the spirit during the conjuration process. It is possible they can appear in a different way to their Keeper, but unlikely, usually spirits manifest how they wish to be seen by human Keepers and keep that form their entire relationship with the Keeper. There are times when Keepers have reported a variance in appearance from description, but they are usually slight. Not all entities are capable of being understood by the human mind when in their true form, which is why they choose more human-like or human-comprehensible forms.
